

If people can go a few hours without smoking, they can go without their cell phones. Both practices are equally obnoxious on an airplane.